

Development Equipment Training

Advanced Technical Training is designed to lower mean time to repair (MTTR) and increase mean time to failure (MTTF) relating to Joy Global equipment. In conjunction with local legislation, site requirements and equipment availability, a customized Advanced Technical Training program can be designed according to audit results and site specifications.

All Joy Global technical instructors have extensive experience and qualifications relevant to the course content and have the appropriate RII qualification and Certificate IV in Training and Assessing. Product training courses supplied by Joy Global significantly enhance the knowledge and abilities of personnel across a broad range of skill sets.
